16. PARKING PIZZA

Parking Pizza's name doesn't lie: Yes, this is a car park. Enter via an unmarked tunnel; apart from a giant pizza oven pumping doughy aromas from the back left corner, little's changed from its former incarnation. This is the best pizza in the city; of the 13 choices, number 11 is the signature: a cheesy, tomato-free circle of gooey joy, with Fior di Latte mozzarella, fontina, parmesan, egg, and truffle. The starters are shareable tapas such as rosemary focaccia, oozing burrata, and a delectable trio of quinoa, avocado, and poached egg.

1. NEVERMIND

The Nevermind is a curious exercise in nostalgia. In this dark dive that honours Seattle rock and seems to consider Kurt Cobain as the Second Coming, you'll find long-haired grunge fans, surfers, Alice in Chains blaring from the speakers, and strangely, piles of young people who were likely toddling around in nappies when Kurt Cobain was the star of the moment.

2. BOLLOCKS

Alternative rock bar with excellent decor and cheap beer found in Barcelona's Barri Gòtic neighbourhood. The background music takes you on a time trip back to when Guns 'n' Roses were the big thing. Now THAT's rock 'n' roll. All the decoration is a lesson in DIY, but taken to extremes. And they always give you a free bowl of popcorn. All 21st-century metal bars should be like this one.
